Litigating before the CJEU: Protecting rights of trans and non-binary people article, legal gender recognition, asylum, freedom of movement, non-discrimination

Are you interested in learning about recent legal developments and pending cases that protect the rights of trans and non-binary people in the EU? If so, our forthcoming webinar, part of Trans Legal Net, is for you!

We'll be joined by leading experts with specialised experience in litigation before the CJEU. They'll share insights into the different stages of litigation and the process of building legal arguments.

The session will begin with a brief introduction to the CJEU and its unique features, followed by presentations on three pending cases. We'll conclude by celebrating a landmark judgment from a few weeks ago, which established the right to freedom of movement and the mutual recognition of changes to forename and gender made in another Member State.
